

Fero Bobek

(Andrej Grman)

Once upon a time, there was one man, called Fero. Fero was a German ruler, who wanted to conquer Turkey. Turkey was ruled by Stano. Fero was 87 years old and Stano was three times younger. How old was the ruler of Turkey? Fero Bobek had an army of 10 soldiers. Stano had one tenth of Fero's army more. How many soldiers did they have together? Fero's son Ikalos had an army, eight times the size of Stano's. How many soldiers did Ikalos have? Turkey rather retreated, because they feared Ikalos. That's how Germany won the famous battle of the river O2, because Turkey retreated. At the end, Ikalos became king. How many days did it take them to return home, if the distance was 780km and their speed was 2.5kmph? And they buried Fero Bobek and it's the end of the story.
