

Proud Princess

(Klaudia Sirotová)

One day, one princess decided, that she wants to have her room reconstructed. And she started telling her writer: "Beautiful carpet for 980 euros, wardrobe for 500 euros, wooden floor for 4853 euros and chairs for 5258 euros." How many euros will the whole reconstruction cost? In her wallet, she had 12568 euros. Is she able to pay for reconstruction? If yes, how much money will she have left? When she had beautiful room, she wanted a beautiful king. She started to discover, how many princes would want her. They send 58 letters. They got responses for half the letters they had sent. And every of these princes also sent her an expensive present. Princess started to like living like that, but later, she was fed up with it, so she decided to marry the richest prince. And it happened. Then, they built beautiful castle, near princess' home. They built it from 378895kg of stone. They needed 5456kg of mortar. They used 354kg of wood for furniture. How many kg did they use for the whole castle? And so the princess lived happily ever after, and prince did, what she told him to do.
